

SCORES PERISH IN STORM ON GREAT LAKES; PROPERTY LOSS RUNS INTO MILLIONS

Shores of Lakes Superior, Huron and Erie Strewn With Wreckage Caused by Three-Day Gale; Many Vessels Are Demolished

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The shores of Lakes Superior, Huron and Erie were strewn tonight with the wreckage of a three days' gale and snow storm, which cost the lives of probably three-score persons, turned bottom up in midlake a 300-foot steel vessel with its crew, wrecked or grounded numerous other craft and caused a property loss as yet unestimated, but which will run into the millions.

The full details of the storm, which swept from the westernmost end of Lake Superior to the eastern shore of Lake Erie, became known only today when survivors began arriving in various ports with tales of hardships and heroic rescues seldom equaled on the lakes.

CLEVELAND HAS WORST STORM IN HISTORY OF CITY

LOSS IS ESTIMATED AT MANY MILLIONS

Streets Are Impassable; Food Supply Is Low, and Conditions Horrible

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11.—With fair and warmer weather predicted for tomorrow, Cleveland's hopeful tonight of a speedy resumption of the difficulties that have beset it since the worst snowstorm in its history descended upon it Sunday night.

A resumption of the blizzard would cut off relief from the food sources of the city, and the city would then be in a position to suffer as the city of Chicago did during the last such storm.

The crew of the Turret Chief, when the ship struck the rocks in Lake Superior, were frozen in 40-50-60 degrees below zero.

Shippers in Detroit estimated the loss to the Lake Huron and the Detroit and St. Clair rivers alone to be several hundred thousand dollars. Three of the wrecked steamers increased the loss by $500,000, while the scores of smaller craft driven ashore in Lakes Superior and Lake Erie will send the total much higher.

Flood conditions will abate. As a result of the disturbed state of the lake, a new menace today developed. The drinking water has turned to the color of coffee and warnings were issued by the health department to boil all drinking water.

The total number of dead was increased to five today.

The work of cleaning up the city was furthered this afternoon when snow ceased for a time. Fifteen hundred workmen succeeded in putting 14 city street car lines in order and others probably will be working on a schedule by tomorrow. In the meantime, telegraph and telephone companies cleared away a large part of the wreckage re-

Mishaps to Vessels

The more important mishaps to vessels were:

Unidentified 300-foot steel freighter floating bottom up in Lake Huron. A few miles north of Port Huron, built in Canada, cargo probably was flax. United States life-saving crew found vessel in such position as to have made it almost impossible for any of the crew of 25 or 30 to have escaped.

Lightship No. 92 in Lake Erie off Port Albion 15 miles west of Buffalo with crew of six believed lost.

ANTI SALOON LEAGUE PLANS NATL. CAMPAIGN

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 11.—Revision of the constitution of the Antisaloon League of America in order to make possible a campaign for nationwide prohibition managed from national headquarters will be discussed at tomorrow's session of the league, according to an announcement made tonight.

It is proposed to divide the country into 16 districts, over each of which will be a chapter of the national executive committee to supervise anti-saloon work. State superintendents will be appointed to be answerable to the executive committee.

CLEVELAND HAS

Sinking from the destruction of telegraph poles, and established a few connections with neighboring cities. A work of rehabilitation as far as the city is concerned, the work of the city was limited to an area of some 500 acres around Cleveland.

It is believed that the steamer G. J. C. or which went aground off Cape Cod, will be saved. A breech buoy was in position ready to take off Captain John Burns of Buffalo and his crew of 25, if danger threatened.

The hospital are greatly handicapped. Some lack proper food and others have had to do with candle light. Three hundred patients were reported marooned in four interurban cars at Green Mills, near here, late today. Relief parties are on the way to them but are encountering huge drifts.

Not until the snow clears away will the police be able to solve the mysteries of numerous disappearances reported to them.

A Nickel Plate train consisting of 40 cars of hogs and chickens is stalled in West Cleveland. The stock is starving.

Lives Will Run Into Millions.

Business and factory owners estimated the loss in business to wholesale and retail companies at many millions of dollars. A great part of the citizens are unable to leave their homes and are unable to get to work. Streets are impassable for wagons, and undertakers are unable to remove the bodies of persons who have died since the breaking of the storm. The bodies of seven persons who have died at City hospital since Tuesday night have not been removed to morgues several more are being held at the city's correction farm and seven private funerals cannot be held as the bodies cannot be taken to the cemeteries.

Many bakeries closed today because of lack of power and unless coal trains can reach the city soon an alarming bread shortage threatens. No improvement in the milk situation has been effected and an actual milk famine has been caused because the companies are unable to make deliveries of the milk on hand or to obtain more from dairies in the surrounding territory.

An average of 24 inches of snow fell during the storm and snow drifts have piled as high as 20 feet. Every highway throughout this section will be impassable for several days.

MISS CONFER'S MOTHER SAYS STORY IS INCORRECT

According to a statement received by Mrs. George Mamont of 501 E. 10th, a Carmel street, the mother of Miss Dorotha Confer, the young woman who has not said that the accident last Thursday morning when she was injured by an automobile driven by W. P. Larrabee was her own fault. Mrs. Confer has made no statement. Mrs. Mamont declared although Larrabee said that she had. According to Mrs. W. P. Larrabee he called upon Miss Confer at the hospital twice, but the latter has not discussed the accident of the accident.

OLD QUESTIONS AT LABOR CONVENTION

Credentials of Delegate Implicated in Mulhall Story Are Refused

SEATTLE—Wash. Nov. 11.—The American Federation of Labor today refused to accept the credentials of Jacob Tazelaar, a delegate of the Painters, Paper Hangers and Decorators union and ordered that he be excluded from the floor of the convention hall. Tazelaar recently was named by Col. Michael G. Mulhall, former agent of the National Association of Manufacturers, as having been employed by Mulhall to work against the election of Representative (now senator) William Hughes of New Jersey. Mulhall swore before a congressional committee that he paid Tazelaar $1,000 for his services against Hughes whom the National Association of Manufacturers was seeking to defeat. Much of the morning was taken up by the reading of the report of G. W. Perkins, president of the International Clearing House union delegate to the International secretariat which met at Zurich, Switzerland last September. Largely through Mr. Perkins' efforts the world's trades union congress will be held in San Francisco in 1915.

The report of the committee on rules was adopted. A deluge of resolutions was poured into the hands of President Gompers, who referred them to the proper committee.

The federation adjourned until tomorrow morning. The afternoon was spent in an automobile ride over the city.

Committees At Work.

The various committees of the American Federation of Labor struggled tonight with their reports on the portions of the executive council report referred to them and on the resolutions offered from the floor. Three subjects that were troublesome at the Rochester convention last year are still in contention, namely, the charges filed by the Central Federated Union of Greater New York and vicinity against the White Rate Actors unions of America, the quarrel between the two factions of the International Electrical Workers of America and legislation demanded by the postal clerks.

The McNulty branch of the electrical workers is recognized by the federation and the courts but the Reid-Murphy faction is powerful in the west, and has 5,000 members on the Pacific coast. The Pacific Coast division of the Reid-Murphy branch of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is holding a secret convention in Seattle.

Old Question Pops Up.

An old question of jurisdiction between the carpenters and sheet metal workers will be brought before the federation as a result of a strike today on a 12-story building under construction here. The strike was brought about by a desire to have the matter passed upon by the federation. The sheet and metal workers insisted that the door and window trimming work now being done by the carpenters should be performed by the sheetmetal workers. The electrical workers plasterers laborers and brick masons walked out with the sheet metal workers and the plumbers holding engineers and steamfitters remained on the job with the carpenters. The contractors said they had nothing to do with the controversy between the unions.

FREIGHTER CAPSIZES

Many sailors lost their lives. Several owners said today that while it may take a month definitely to total the damage it was certain shipping on Lake Huron to the Detroit and St. Clair rivers, suffered a loss of several hundred thousand dollars.

The black bottomed freighter, passing keel upward in Lake Huron still was an unidentified wreck tonight, although wrecking tugs hovered near in an effort to learn her name. The vessel held by many marine men that the wreck was the steamer J. M. Jenks of the Haystack line of Cleveland. It was supposed to be when William L. Carrigan, president of the Lake Carriers' Association, announced the Jenks was safe in a harbor on Georgian bay, near Atlantic.

May Be Foreign Craft.

Despite the rough water men from the wrecking tugs approached close enough to the derelict to examine her hull, said Mr. Livingston. They found several peculiarities of construction which indicated to them that the steamer was not of American build. As her beam is only about 45 feet she certainly could not be more than 100 feet long. That to our mind disposes of the possibility that the freighter was of recent construction and eliminates suppositions that she might be one of three big freighters unreported since Sunday.

She may have been a fish carrier but we are not sure. She is a Dutch crouse cargo in a heavy sea and we are inclined to believe the shifting of the cargo caused the vessel to turn turtle. The fact that her bow is so far above water also might be attributed to one of the peculiar qualities of submerged vessels.

Will Investigate Today.

"We have hopes of identifying the freighter tomorrow. We succeeded today in having Washington order the revenue cutter Morrill to the assistance of the derelict. Instead of going to Lake Erie to search for missing freighter No. 8. We understand the cutter will be permitted to stand by until the name of the freighter is known. The report received today that the captain of the steamer Alphea sighted a sunken lumber barge in Lake Huron brought varied comments from marine men. It was generally believed that the barge sighted by Alphea and the unidentified freighter are the same. Their bodies were found on the shore of Lake Huron today, two near Port Frank and one above Point Edwards.

Captain Narrates Experiences.

CALUMET Mich. Nov. 11.—Capt. J. W. Duddleson of the steamer L. C. Waldo of the Bay Transportation company of Detroit, which was broken in two at Gull Rock, Manitowish Island, told a graphic story of the wreck, upon his arrival at Houghton tonight, with his crew of 25 men and two women, aboard the tug Hobard.

The Waldo was bound from Two Harbors for Erie, with a cargo of iron ore. The storm struck her at 11:45 o'clock Friday night. The mountainous waves tore off the forward house and pilot house and all structures in the forward part of the ship. The compasses were lost and connections of the electric lighting system were broken. Captain Duddleson then was forced to steer by a small, inaccurate compass fitted by a lantern held by a member of the crew.

After being tossed for 18 hours, it finally struck the reef. For a time the crew was in immediate danger of being washed overboard. After the boat hit a reef, the afterhouse was washed away, and they were compelled to seek shelter in the windless room, the only superstructure which withstood the lashing of the waves.

Without Food For While.

Until the arrival of the tug Hobard, carrying the life-saving crew of the Portage lake ship canal, in charge of Captain McCormick, shortly after 7 o'clock this morning the Waldo's crew was without food. Captain Duddleson praised highly the work of the life savers. Had they not braved the immense seas which was still running this morning he declared his crew would have been in grave danger of perishing.

The Waldo is valued at $200,000. Captain Duddleson believes the boat is a total loss but he will leave for the wreck tomorrow to ascertain the full extent of the damage.

Capt. T. Paddington and crew of 16 of the steamer Turrit chief of the Merchants line of Ontario, which foundered six miles east of Copper Harbor, Keweenaw point at 4 o'clock Saturday morning, arrived in Calumet tonight. They had suffered one of the most narrowing experiences in the history of lake shipping.

Askers on Desolate Beach.

The Turrit Chief went ashore on a desolate beach Friday night. Part of the crew were asleep when the vessel struck. Thrown from their bunks they had no time to don warm clothing before they were ordered on deck. Some were barfueled. It soon became evident that the title of the vessel was sealed as she was pounding badly and the waves were washing over her decks. Without waiting to obtain a supply of food the officers and crew made their way through the surf to the shore.

A hut was hastily built of driftwood and wreckage. In this the men could find some shelter from the storm until yesterday morning although they suffered severely from exposure. They were not sure of their location but were directed to Copper Harbor by a trapper. Frost-bitten shivering and weak from hunger they tramped slowly into Copper Harbor yesterday afternoon.

May Be Total Loss.

Members of the crew believe that the Turrit Chief will be a total loss. Her position is such that she cannot be removed before the waves pound her to pieces. The steamer was bound from Medicine Point for Port Arthur and was struck by the northwest gale while 130 miles northwest of Whitefish point. She drifted more than 100 miles before the storm.

The second mate, John Pickard, and another member of the crew, will remain here until it is decided what to do with the steamer. The other members of the crew and the captain will go to Toronto. The Turrit Chief is a steel boat and valued at $1,000,000.

G. O. P. CAN'T CHANGE ORGANIZATION PLAN

Law Committee Says Convention Only Body With Authority to Act

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Power to change the basic organization of the Republican national convention does not lie with the Republican national committee although the committee has authority to call an intermediate convention to act upon the question. This was determined today by the law committee of the national committee after an all-day discussion of various questions referred to it preparatory to the meeting of the national committee here next month to consider reorganization of the party.

The law committee decided that if the national committee should decide to call a convention the basis of representation would have to be just what it has been in the past. It also was agreed that the committee has no power to alter the method of choosing delegates to future conventions, and that it would be ineffectual to make such change except in accordance with state legislative action.

The lawyers will make a draft of a call for a convention to be submitted to the December meeting of the committee.

production of Columbus' caravel which is bound from Chicago to San Francisco. It was driven into a mud bank near Erie Pa. On board is what is cherished as the original anchor which Columbus carried to America. The vessel reported ground with slight or no damage numbered more than 30.

Reports from all points tonight indicated the storm had ended.

Another Freighter Wrecked.

SALT STE MARIE Mich. Nov. 11.—The wreck of the steel freighter William Nottingham was discovered today on Sand Island, Whitefish bay, Lake Superior. A wheelman and other and a deckhand whose names have not been learned were drowned when a small boat launched to summon assistance was captured by the waves. Tugs sent out from here today to search for wrecks found the Nottingham fast on a rocky reef between Sand and Parmesan islands. The vessel struck last Monday afternoon. When the last was lowered to summon aid, it caught almost as soon as it touched the water and efforts to save the last men thrown into the icy waters were futile.

So terrific was the struggle with the waves all the way down Lake Superior that the Nottingham's coal supply was exhausted, and part of her cargo of wheat was burned beneath her boilers. Some of the Nottingham's plates are buckled, and she is in bad condition. The survivors of the crew remained on board tonight.

CHICAGO Nov. 11.—It was definitely established tonight that no lives were lost in the wreck of the steamer Northern Queen, 300 feet long, off Kettle Point, on the Canadian shore of Lake Huron.

Nineteen of the 22 members of the ship's crew reached shore safely today. The captain and his two mates remained on board the vessel in the belief that she is in no danger of breaking up.

In spite of the fact that his ship is badly damaged, the captain said he believed he would be able to work her off the reef when the waves subside.

It is now believed that bodies which were thought to have come ashore from the Northern Queen were victims of the disaster which befell the Regina.

The Northern Queen was bound for Port William light. She is 335 feet in length and of 1,885 net tonnage. Her master is Captain George Crawford of Buffalo. She is owned by the Mutual Transit company of Buffalo.

COAL STRIKE

The march was decided upon at a Socialist mass meeting at Rockyvale Monday night.

Suspect Arrested.

BOLLETER Nov. 11.—Sheriff Baxter tonight arrested a miner, believed to be from the southern coal fields who he thinks is one of the 20 who attacked the Hecla mine at Louisville last night. The prisoner gave the name of Joe.

In the midnight attack a number of shots were fired into the mine in dispute. The guards returned the fire. No one was injured.

Boulder Colo. Nov. 11.—The Hecla mine at Louisville was attacked tonight by a party of about 20 strikers according to reports received here early today. In the exchange of shots by the strikers and the mine guards a refuge in cellars and behind doors.

So far as known none was injured.

Stewart Before Grand Jury.

EL PASO, Colo. Nov. 11.—Elaborate State government investigation which started the strike zone some time ago, appeared before the federal grand jury here this afternoon to give testimony in the investigation of the coal strike. Stewart was the first witness when the investigation began several weeks ago. Attorney Hendricks and Sheriff Graham of Las Animas county were witnesses at the session yesterday.

HALE IN CONFERENCE

is hurrying to the border from Hermosillo, the state capital.

Mr. Hale came to the border country two weeks ago going first to Tucson, Ariz. A week ago he came to Nogales, but he returned to Tucson last Sunday. Then he admitted his intention, but declined to discuss his business in this section. He remained in Tucson until his sudden departure for Nogales by automobile late today.

General Carranza is making Nogales, Sonora, his provisional capital. Admittedly, he is anticipating some move on the part of Washington officials that will greatly affect the Constitutional movement.

Surrounded by many of the men who supported the late President Madero, General Carranza declared tonight that all he wanted for his forces was the same opportunity for importing arms and ammunition possessed by Huerta.

Americans Safe.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 11.—The Americans, numbering 25 persons, in the town of Tuxpam, which is being attacked by a large force of rebels, were safe this afternoon. Two American warships, the battleship Louisiana and the gunboat Wheeling, are riding at anchor in the Tuxpam harbor. Tuxpam is 145 miles northwest of Vera Cruz.

The United States consul here today received a telegram from the American consul at Tuxpam, Arthur Payne, in which the latter estimated the attacking force to number 1,000 men. The consul said the gunboat Wheeling which had been hurriedly dispatched from Vera Cruz yesterday, arrived at her destination at 2 o'clock this morning. He added that the Americans in the town had not been harmed.

Rear Admiral Fletcher in command of the United States naval forces in Mexican waters received a dispatch by wireless today from Rear Admiral Clifford J. Bouché, on board the battleship Louisiana which reached Tuxpam from Vera Cruz just before noon. The admiral said that 30 Americans had escaped from the town leaving behind them six others whom he hoped to rescue and if necessary take them aboard his vessel.

Barrett Supports Wilson

CHICAGO Nov. 11.—President Wilson's Mexican policy was endorsed tonight by John Barrett, director-general of the Pan-American Union, in an address before the South American committee of the Association of Commerce.

He asserted the United States was facing a greater peril than the masses of the people realized and that a dangerous phase of the widespread discussion was the almost rampant attitude of many newspapers and public speakers assumed toward Mexico as a jungle enthusiasm leading the American people to intervention.

He said the United States was face to face with a crisis which may precipitate the nation in a long, cruel and unglorious guerrilla warfare which will require an army of 200,000 men; will cost $1,000,000 a day for hundreds of days; will start a new pension list that will cost another million dollars a day; and may eliminate forever the confidence of the 20 Latin American republics and their 70,000,000 fellow Americans.

The deputy auditor acting under instructions from Auditor Kane has steadfastly refused to sign the certificates, and if he shall not have done so by tomorrow noon a mandamus order will be sought by the governor and the attorney general to compel compliance.

to the Huerta regime through foreign channels. A few weeks of financial isolation, it is believed by high officials here, will force the retirement of Huerta.

That President Wilson might possibly issue a statement in a day or two making a comprehensive explanation of the purposes of the United States, was indicated by some of the diplomats. The president, it is said, has not finally determined whether he shall make another pronouncement, but it has been suggested to him that such a declaration might place on record before the world the reasons why the elections of president, vice president and members of congress in Mexico could not be recognized by the United States. It is reported that in this connection, too, the president may announce the repudiation in advance of any acts of the new congress which General Huerta has said would be convened on November 20.

Litians to Counsel of All.

President Wilson was in communication again today through Senator Bacon with members of the senate foreign relations committee. The president feels that members of the committee, Republicans and Democrats alike, are supporting the policy of the executive and he is giving serious consideration to their views as to the removal of the embargo on arms.

It was reported today that Sir Edward Grey, private secretary to the British foreign minister, Sir Edward Grey has obtained Secretary Bryan's views on the situation and had transferred them in a long report to London. The British ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice is still confined to his bed.

Senor de la Vega, Cuban charge here, issued a statement denying for his government a recent report from Nogales, Sonora, that two Cuban warships had been offered to the Mexican Constitutionalists, at a conference between General Carranza and a Cuban commission headed by Pablo Menocal, brother of the president of Cuba. Senor Menocal, the statement said, went to Sonora on an exclusively commercial trip.

EXIT THE DAY OF REST LAW

THE decision of Judge Kinney, in the County Court, dismissing the case brought by the City against violators of the Day of Rest ordinance will meet with general public approval. So, too, will Mayor McKesson's assurance that he has always believed the law to be unconstitutional and will oppose taking the case to the higher courts on appeal.

Never was a more absurd law enacted in Colorado Springs than the Day of Rest ordinance. Yet nobody is really to blame for it. It was not carelessly drawn; on the contrary it received the earnest consideration of then City Attorney McKesson and other capable lawyers. But they were up against the insuperable difficulty of making a blanket ordinance to fit a multitude of diverse conditions. It was like a rule of grammar whose exceptions outnumber its applications.

When the lawyers got through with their job they frankly admitted that it probably would not stand the test of the courts, and partly for this reason the Council refused to pass it. But there was supposed to be a great popular demand for such a law, so the Council discreetly referred it to the people. It was voted on April 1, and carried by a large majority.

Then the trouble began. The law was found to be impracticable and unworkable. It imposed unnecessary hardship and expense on employers in various lines, without at the same time accomplishing the slightest benefit for the employee. The theory on which it was based was excellent—that everybody who works is entitled to one day of rest in seven. But when enacted into law that theory goes to pieces. A multitude of exceptions must be made, not only in the interest of the employer but in that of the employee, and when these exceptions are allowed you have a law which applies to some people and not to others—in other words, a perfectly useless and illogical piece of class legislation.

The community ought to feel grateful to Judge Kinney for the clear and sensible decision which puts an end to the trouble and confusion caused by the effort to enforce the measure. And the community ought to hope, too, that there will be no further attempts to legislate on this subject. No other city, so far as we can learn, has been able to handle it satisfactorily, and there is small chance of doing it here.

AS TO MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

THE assertion has been made, as an incontrovertible argument against even an investigation of a municipal coal mine for Colorado Springs, that

Municipal ownership reached its zenith as a public policy fully five and perhaps ten years ago. Since that time, as a practical political economic theory it has been steadily declining in favor of the new and better policy of private ownership, with public regulation and public profit-sharing.

Of course it makes no difference with the demand for an investigation of the municipal coal mine project here whether municipal ownership is declining elsewhere or not. But there is at least a question as to whether the above statement concerning the decline of municipal ownership is correct. Writing in Bliss' New Encyclopedia of Social Reform (1908), Edward W. Bemis says:

They (municipal gas and electric plants) are everywhere rapidly growing. Of the 574 municipal and private plants started prior to 1909, only 11.4 per cent were municipal, while of the 1,502 central lighting stations during the next seven years 21.2 per cent were municipal, and of the 1,541 stations started between 1909 and 1912, 27.8 per cent were municipal. It is probable that the reason for municipal ownership being now decided in smaller cities is because there is less profit for the private companies in such cities and therefore less movement to them to oppose municipal undertakings. Nevertheless, in spite of the opposition of public opponents, municipal ownership is on the increase and wherever tried seems to have given satisfaction.

Here is further testimony for the same effect, in an article by Frank Parsons in the same encyclopedia.

The advance of municipal ownership in recent years has been remarkable. From 1896 to 1909 public waterworks in the United States developed in round numbers from 8 per cent to 50 per cent of the whole number. The public gas plants in the United States numbered 15 in 1909 and 45 in 1910, a growth of 67 per cent against an increase of 48 per cent for private gas works. In 1911 there was but a single electric lighting plant in the United States. There are now 1,097, and the latest Census Bureau report (1907) shows that thirteen plants have changed from private to public operation, for each plant that has changed the other way.

Here are other facts: In a speech at the Progressive conference in Denver Ben Griffith, former attorney general, made the statement that, on the average, one lighting plant a week passes from private into municipal ownership in the United States.

There are now municipal ownership movements in Denver, Grand Junction, Fort Collins, Greeley, Boulder, and dozens of other Colorado towns.

A press dispatch announces that at the next session of Congress Representative Lewis will present his bill for government ownership of the telephone, and that it will have the backing of the president.

President Ripley of the Santa Fe says government ownership of railways will come within ten years.

The bill providing for government construction and operation of an Alaskan railway system will be pushed at the next session.

The administration currency bill provides for a vast extension of governmental power over banking, but the Republican members of the Senate will introduce a bill for a public-owned, government-controlled central bank.

As was stated above, the fact that everywhere the idea of public ownership of utilities is growing does not necessarily mean that Colorado Springs should own and operate a coal mine. But that opponents of municipal ownership should so grossly distort the facts as to municipal ownership elsewhere raises a suspicion in many minds. The surest way to kill the growing demand for municipal ownership of a coal mine, if the facts as to the cost of mining are as the operators allege, is to have a full and fair investigation. That is all The Gazette has asked. The investigation would cost nothing; why then should anyone oppose it, in view of the positive statement made by Mr. Thomas that coal can be sold for $2.50, while we are forced to pay from $4 to $4.50? Will not an investigation enable the operators to point out to all people the errors in Mr. Thomas' figures?

OPEN PARLIAMENT

LOAN SHARKS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 A day or two ago, the Rev. Mr. Pratt, the evangelist, stated that a man here, a member of one of the local churches, charged 40 per cent or more per annum for money loans, and that he was not a true Christian. Many of us probably know who the money lender referred to is. However, there are a number of others, both Christians and Jews in this city who do the same thing. As a Jew, I want to say that the Christian, in also not considered a Jew. No man has a right to consider himself a follower of any church who does what the Rev. Mr. Pratt says. The pit is that the hard-pressed, worthy, unfortunate is usually the sufferer, from the unscrupulousness of this class of usurers.

In my limited knowledge of the work of evangelists, I do not know how much is expected of them along practical lines but if it is within the scope of their work, I wish it were possible for the Rev. Mr. Pratt, while here, to start the formation of a loan company, where hard-pressed individuals might borrow loans at something like a humane rate of interest. This could readily be done by a corporation, in which the people of this city could acquire shares and where loans might be had at reasonable rates of interest, while the profits in excess of a consistent annual dividend could be devoted to such charitable institutions as the Day Nursery, the Boys and Girls club, and the Visiting Nurse association, or any strictly charitable institution.

THE LATIN-AMERICANS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 Why will The Gazette persist in sweeping denunciations of Latin-American peoples, because the Indians in Mexico are not allowed to vote? Most negroes in our southern states are not allowed to vote, and the same condition prevails among the Indians of the southwest. And in the Philippines, now under our benevolent control, the Indians are mostly denied the privilege of casting ballots. Those conditions are quite similar to those in Mexico where the Indians, who constitute a large majority of the population, are virtually disenfranchised.

According to the early Spanish chroniclers, the Aztecs of Mexico were of tougher fiber than the Indians of South America, or of any other indigenous race. This may explain the fact that the majority of the population have had to govern the indigenous races by force, if they governed at all. When the negroes of Mississippi and South Carolina are no longer dominated by a majority of white people, when the Indians of the southwest have all the privileges of citizenship, and when the natives of the Philippines are no longer governed by American whites, then and then only can we Americans criticize the whites in Mexico for governing the Indians by force.

The fact that the whites are of Spanish and not of English stock, does not matter. In Chile and Argentina there are almost no Indians, and the population are nearly pure Latin-American stock. These nations are more orderly and progressive, as a rule, and in some respects more so. I merely mention this to emphasize the fact that it is not so much a question as to whether the population is English-American or Latin-American, as it is whether there is a homogeneous white population as in most of our United States and in Argentina and Chile, or a mixed population where the whites strive to rule by force as in Mexico and the Philippines.

There is nothing more harmful than racial prejudice, and we North Americans have our share of it as is shown by our treatment of the negroes and the Chinese. We consider the Latin-American bloodthirsty and treacherous, and the Latin-Americans consider us sordid and ill-mannered. But this is only a provincial prejudice on both sides, and the racial distinctions are much smaller than most people suppose.

FOOTBALL

BY GEORGE FITCH
 Author of "At Good Old Bawah"

Football, which becomes epidemic in September of each year, is a perpetual contest between the rules committee and the corner, with the former at present several laps in the lead.

Football is a concerted endeavor on the part of eleven impetuous young men to tunnel through eleven other stubborn and atom-minded youths, with the object of carrying a $3 leather ball to a goal line not far away. The ball could be sent by parcel post or a plane in much less time, and at far less expense, but this would not be sport. Sport consists of doing an easy thing in the most difficult manner possible, which is why golfers play their game with the aid of a caddy instead of a messenger boy.

When eleven husky young men try to go in a row to a place occupied by eleven other husky young men something has to give way. In the case of football it is usually a collarbone, though the tibia and fibula are also great sufferers. When football had progressed to a perfection which necessitated the delaying of the game after each play in order to place the players together, the census authorities interfered and the rules committee came to the rescue.

Football in its new denatured form is played by a referee and umpire, with the assistance of the referee's boys, neatly bound in 11 volumes, at $1 per volume, or $3 for full leather. The new game is as interesting as a parol. The player takes the ball and runs it through five men for four yards. The officials then bring it back 10 yards on account of rule 22, series B. Another player then carries it forward 35 yards. The officials take it back 40 yards and give it to the opposition. The opposition then trips on its own feet, falls down in a heap, loses the ball, busts a garter and is awarded 25 yards by rule 678, ring twelve. The opposition then kicks goal, for which it loses the ball and 10 yards, and receives a warning.

This so heartens the other side that it fumbles the ball 10 yards back of its own line and is given 20 yards by the referee on the ground that the left guard kicked an opponent while brushing past him.

The attacking side now makes 10 yards more by sitting on the ball and yelling for help, and 10 yards when the center passes the ball over the fullback's head. Victory is now in sight, unfortunately, the attacking halfback now makes a 70-yard run and touchdown. For this his side loses the ball, and seven points, the quarterback is ejected from the field, the business manager is conditioned in history B and the game is declared a draw on points.

Football is still inspiring to watch and is now a safe game, except as regards the officials, who must be men of great endurance and education. Too much time is now taken out to allow the umpire to keep his books and recover his wind, and it has been suggested that the game can be speeded up by allowing the officials to play while the players, who are in better physical condition any way, do their work.

III.—Grandmother discovers something about the cost of bringing up a modern child.

From the Diary of a Grandmother. Being a few extracts from the diary of a grandmother who visits her daughter and her four grandchildren for the first time.

"When I went down to lunch this noon, I found Janet and her mother having a heated argument about some green silk stockings, and I saw that a certain very bright green is the thing at the school this year, and no school girl looks right without a few touches of it all over her. Janet wears enormous green hair-ribbons and a green bow on the front of her checked dress. Now she wants her mother to buy her a pair of green silk stockings. Her mother objected on the ground of their loud appearance, and Janet silenced her by citing several of the nicest girls who wore them. Then her mother objected on the ground of expense. But I can get a good pair for only a dollar," was Janet's answer to that.

"I wondered when I first came to the United States why Margaret always seems to be worrying about bills. I begin to understand now. Janet has several pairs of silk stockings, and even little Ruth has a pair or two for dancing school. Janet always wears silk petticoats with her dressy clothes and I heard her residing the other day because her mother thought a common petticoat was good enough for school wear."

"When Margaret was a girl I think we dressed her about as well as any girl in town, and she never had a silk petticoat until she had her trousseau. When she was 18, her aunt gave her her first pair of silk stockings, and I remember how excited she was about them. My own first pair of stockings were wedding pair. Things certainly have changed. No wonder Margaret always seems so worried. Janet's hair-ribbons alone cost a dollar and a quarter, and Ruth has lost one of hers twice since I have been here."

"Margaret says she is glad the baby is a boy because his clothes will not cost so much. It seems a queer reason for wanting a son, and yet in the light of all I have learned I can quite understand it. But even boys are not particularly inexpensive in these times. A day or two ago, Richard asked his father for $5 for a football suit. His mother was angry at his asking for it, but his father was so belonging to a club, and the idea of the little shaver without a proper football suit, I had heard him blushing for the school because of his home. His father was so ashamed, and he gave him the suit. When my boys were young their football suits were homemade and $5 was the price of a good game suit."

Government Ownership of Telephone and Telegraph

Washington, D. C., dispatch to New York Herald: The administration is much closer to the formal adoption of a policy of government purchase and operation of telephone and long distance telegraphs than the general public realize. Although the president and Ex-President General Harrison are reluctant even to discuss the question at this stage, I am authoritatively informed that they are entertaining a proposal to start the new policy by the purchase of the Bell system.

Representative D. J. La Follette of Maryland, author of the postal law amendment, and the recognized congressional authority on matters of the telephone, question the wisdom of government purchase of the question of purchasing the Bell system of the Postal and Western Union telegraph companies. His idea is to have the government content itself with the 3,000 miles of interurban and long distance telephone wires which, being of copper, can be utilized by the post-office department for the simultaneous transmission of both telephone and telegraph messages. This, he estimates, can be secured for about $10,000,000, thus establishing the government as a competitor of the commercial systems, and paving the way for purchase of the telegraphs later.

In his researches Mr. Lewis has had the administration's aid and encouragement in the form of assistance from the interstate commerce commission and the postoffice department. He has conferred with the president, Senator John H. Bankhead, chairman of the senate committee on postoffices and post roads, and representative John A. Moon, chairman of the house committee on postoffices and post roads, who also are studying the question. Mr. Lewis will advocate this policy in a speech to be delivered with in a few weeks. Meanwhile the president may have something to say on the subject in his annual message to congress in December.

Quartz. Constantly Arising.
 The question of public ownership of telephones is constantly forced upon the administration by the frequent requests for prosecution of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company under the Sherman anti-trust law. This corporation now controls the Bell system of telephones, with 14,610,343 miles of wire, of which 2,000,000 miles is "toll" or long distance and interurban wires, and the Western Union Telegraph company.

The independent long distance telephone companies now controlled under the Bell system have about 1,100,000 miles of wire, making 3,000,000 miles in all, the total value of which, at $30 a mile when strung on poles, is $180,000,000. This takes no account of exchanges and other equipment.

Although Mr. Lewis and other Democrats would like to see a complete government monopoly of the telegraph and telephone business at once, he sees obstacles to this. At first, Mr. Lewis would have the government make no effort to acquire or operate local telephone systems in cities and towns where the American Telephone & Telegraph company owns and controls about 13,000,000 miles of wires. His idea is that every postoffice should be a public telephone station, leading ultimately to a government monopoly of all telephone lines.

It is being urged upon the president that a permanent investment of $200,000,000 is a mere drop in the bucket when the annual expenses of the government, exceeding $1,000,000,000 a year, are considered. Friends of the public ownership idea predict that within two or three years both the parcel post and the government telegraph and telephone business would more than pay for themselves.

An exceedingly important factor in the situation is an investigation now in progress by the interstate commerce commission of the telephone systems of the country and their relations with the telegraph companies.

This was instituted last January at the request of George W. Wickersham, attorney general in the last cabinet, who took the position that although the telephone business might be a "natural monopoly," as asserted by the American Telephone & Telegraph officials, the government should know all the facts before fixing its policy on the subject. Mr. Wickersham also demanded that the American Telephone & Telegraph company cease the efforts to stamp out competition and other al-

A QUESTION OF PARK BENCHES

From the New York Tribune.
 There is only one season of the year when benches are not at a premium in the city's parks, and that is in winter. A new problem has this year confronted park officials. It may lead to the building of benches with no divisions. The present type of bench is divided into four parts. "Spoons" insist on sitting in the two middle compartments. They do so believing no other couple will care to come along and sit down on the same bench and be separated. No others will intrude, either. So the lovers, while occupying only half the bench, by this time monopolize all. During this last summer such antics made bench-people so angry that a world's series.

CHURCH UNABLE TO ACCOMMODATE CROWD

Revival Meetings, Beginning Tonight, to Be Held at
First Presbyterian

On account of the large number of people who had to be turned away from the overcrowded First Presbyterian church last night, the management of the revival meetings now being conducted by Evangelist Benajah Pratt has decided to hold the gatherings of the remaining 10 days in the First Presbyterian church, which will accommodate many more people. Tonight the meeting will be held in that church and the subject of the sermon as announced by Dr. Pratt will be "A Church Member of the Smart Set."

The large revival chorus has been increased this week, and is showing the effect of the training under Mr. Booth. He has all the features of a professional director, and is a clever chorus leader. Mrs. Booth sang "The Light of the World" at the beginning of the services last night, and at the close of the sermon sang "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning."

Evangelist Pratt took for his subject last night "Let Your Light Shine," based on the text found in John 1:9. He was a burning and shining light. He illustrated his sermon with a common house lamp, which he lighted and then proceeded to apply its different kinds of light to the many kinds of Christians. He said in part:

"John the Baptist was one of the forerunners of Christ. For 3,000 years there had been but the torch of the prophet and the taper of the priest. Then came the light of the world in Jesus Christ. He in turn passed it on to the people. 'Ye are the light of the world,' he said.

"Lamps cannot light themselves. That which kindles them must come from the outside. We shine only when lighted by the spirit of God. There is the smoldering lamp of Christianity, which has darkened the soul through which the light passes. Carelessness, neglect and worldliness are the three evils which destroy the brilliancy of any soul's shining.

"Then there is the empty lamp. Christianity must be filled, and so must Christians, with the reading of the Bible and daily prayer. A light lamp Christian is one who has but a tiny flame, yet he dispels gloom and brings joy and old from being afraid. The lamp lamp Christian wants to be in the church, where he can be seen and show himself. Some think they must be full, others that they will not be in the church.

"The African church with a description of a week in the life of a Christian. The 'African' is a lamp with two lights. One is on either side of the lamp. One light is the lower lamp, which is not lighted, and the skipper takes the upper for the lower light, and runs his vessel on the rocks. From this incident P. P. Bliss wrote the famous hymn 'Let the Lower Lights Be Burning.'

Dr. Pratt's sermon tonight, when he will speak on the subject, 'A Church Member of the Smart Set,' promises to be of unusual interest.

Funeral of Sui- Victim Yesterday

The funeral of Luke Terry, who was shot from ambush near Oakview last Saturday afternoon, was held yesterday morning from his home, 17 North Thirteenth street, the Rev. C. F. Garver, pastor of the Asbury M. E. church, and the Rev. R. P. Carson of Manitou officiating. The entire membership of the local chapter of the Kappa Sigma fraternity, of which Terry was a member, was present at the services, as well as many other friends.

The floral offerings bore mute testimony of the esteem in which the young man was held by those who knew him. There were several beautiful floral pieces, among them being a great mass of chrysanthemums from friends at Monte Vista, his former home. There was a pillow of flowers from his class at Colorado college, a large star and crescent from his fraternity, and a wreath from the mine at which he worked.

After the services the body was taken to Longmont for burial.

POULTRY MEN HOLD INTERESTING MEETING

At the meeting of the Pike's Peak Poultry association, held last night at the city hall, A. A. Hilton gave an address on "How to Select Birds for Exhibition," and illustrated his ideas with live specimens. A large crowd was in attendance, and much interest was manifested in the meeting. Several birds belonging to local fanciers were on exhibition. H. H. Chase gave a talk on "Standard Bred Birds and Their Value."

Real Estate Men to Prosecute Vandals

Members of the real estate division of the chamber of commerce, at a luncheon at the Alta Vista hotel yesterday, heard a report of the special committee appointed some time ago to take up the matter of protecting vacant houses. The committee recommended that all vacant houses have placards placed on them, in a conspicuous place, offering a reward for the conviction of any persons damaging the property. The report was adopted and the placards will be printed and distributed immediately. The committee which is handling the matter was instructed to confer with the chief of police and enlist the cooperation of the department.

The meeting yesterday also passed a motion to have the real estate men meet daily at luncheon time, and for the first week the men will gather at McRee restaurant. A list of rules for the association was presented by Chas. P. Bennett and adopted in printed form.

HOME ON 17TH STREET IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

After Trouble Is Experienced in Controlling Fire, Switch Engine Runs Over Hose

The home of Mrs. Mary E. Harrington, 315 South Seventeenth street, was almost entirely destroyed by fire on unknown origin yesterday morning. Residents of the house and neighbors carried a large part of the furniture out before the flames drove them away.

According to people living near the Harrington home the firemen were compelled to go three blocks from the fire for water. A fire plug located on Nineteenth street was used, and it was reported yesterday that much difficulty was experienced in connecting the hose.

According to a man standing near the home, the fire started toward the fire. In this way, the hose was to be laid from the plug to the fire. In some manner, the hose became uncoupled a hundred feet from the fire plug, and the wagon drove three blocks before it was noticed that the hose was not being unwound from the wagon.

Members of the fire department said that a switch engine ran over the hose after it had been laid, and this also delayed the fire fighters.

The building is outside the city limits, and the firemen, when they arrived at the scene, had to await the instructions of the fire chief before action could be taken, according to bystanders. Chief McCartin, however, denied this last night, and said that his men went to work on the fire as soon as they arrived.

Plan Law to Squelch Itinerant Peddlers

The matter of protecting local merchants against itinerant peddlers who come to this city for a few months each year will be the chief topic for discussion at a meeting of the retail merchants division of the chamber of commerce, to be held at the Alamo hotel Friday night, commencing with supper at 6:30 o'clock. A talk dealing with this subject will be made by George E. Collinson, secretary of the retail division of the Denver chamber of commerce.

Denver has an ordinance the purpose of which is to eliminate the transient merchant and the different phases of the measure will be explained by Mr. Collinson. A report will be made at this meeting by the special committee, which has been working on the matter for the local merchants.

Rub pain right out with a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Oil"

Rheumatism is "pain only." Not one case in fifty requires surgical treatment. Stop dragging it with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" directly up on the tender spot. The relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism remedy, never disappoints and leaves no mark on the skin.

"Timber up!" Quit complaining. Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store and in just one night you'll be free from rheumatism, pain, soreness and stiffness. It's a relief. Relief and a cure. "St. Jacobs Oil" is just as good for neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings.

Baseball Will Soon Be Sport of World, Says C. A. Comiskey

World's championship baseball series within a few years will be played between the champion teams of the great countries rather than the leaders of the two major leagues in the United States, in the opinion of Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago American league club, who spent several hours here yesterday. Comiskey and his party are en route to Vancouver, where they will join the White Sox and New York Giants on their tour of the world.

"Perhaps 10 or 15 years will mark this great change in baseball," declared Mr. Comiskey. "The great American game is rapidly becoming a world sport, and every year more and more interest is being manifested in it in the foreign countries, which already have taken it up. Baseball is a game which takes hold of everyone—and it keeps it hold."

By way of proving his point, the gray-haired veteran of the diamond pointed out the numerous baseball teams in Japan, China, Australia, France and England. In Japan especially, he said the game is being played with as much success and interest as is manifested here. Numerous universities there have organized teams and are rapidly becoming expert in the art of baseball. In Paris, A. G. Spalding did much to create interest in America's national game, and during the present tour, Comiskey and McGraw of the Giants will attempt to give the sport an impetus that will make it the first place with the sport lovers of the French capital.

Mr. Comiskey and his party arrived in Colorado Springs yesterday morning and spent several hours sightseeing. Everyone was delighted with the wonderful climate and scenery of the region and all were sorry to leave when their train pulled out shortly before noon.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Comiskey, Andrew Blight, Sox catcher, Louis Comiskey, the magnate's brother, and Mrs. Comiskey. Mr. and Mrs. James Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. William Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farrell, Thomas Lynch, W. J. Leahy and Mrs. H. E. Keough.

SPRINGS MEN TO ATTEND ROAD MEETING IN DENVER

The building of a highway from Galveston to Yellowstone National park and the organization of a body to push such a project will be the chief matters up for consideration at a meeting at the Denver chamber of commerce tomorrow afternoon. This city will be represented by L. W. Kent, L. A. Puffer, Dr. P. O. Harford and A. Henderson, all members of the All-Colorado committee. The meeting comes from suggestion by various Denver organizations interested in the cause of good roads and is an outgrowth of the Colorado-to-the-Gulf movement which was fostered by Colorado Springs and Texas associations.

MAGIC VOICE OF INDIAN MAID THRILLS AUDIENCE

Creek Princess Gives Delightful Concert, Singing Indian Songs
With Birdlike Clearness.

By RAMONA BRADY

A unique and thoroughly delightful concert which served the double purpose of benefiting one of Colorado Springs' most popular charities and of advancing interest in American music, was given last night at The Casino by the Princess Ramona and her W. Farmer of Denver. Under the auspices of the American Music society and with the patronage of many friends of both the hospital, the affair was a splendid success socially, financially and above all artistically.

The princess, a royal maid of the Creek Indian tribe, is extremely attractive. She has the fine, strong beauty of the aristocrats of her race, the grace and alluring manner of her ancestors, the proud carriage, the charming simplicity of manner and absolute lack of affectation which characterize her people, in addition she has youth and a voice that is haunting, appealing and wonderful in its promise of power and quality. When one considers that "Tashana" is only a young girl, and that she has studied voice-culture in Denver for less than a year, one must regard her performance as a masterpiece.

Her tones are clear and sweet, and more than anything else, they are Indian. Always in them there is the plaintive note, the echoing, far-away, birdlike call of the Indian in the primeval forest. Her enunciation is a delight, perfect as a foreigner's, but without a foreigner's accent.

Best in Cadman's Songs

Naturally, Tashana appears at her best in Cadman's wonderful songs of her own race, which comprise the greater part of her program. The songs, words and music are essentially Indian, and the Indian princess sings them proudly and tenderly, sometimes sorrowfully with a wistful note of pining love for a vanishing race. Singing them, she radiates temperament, a temperament that—with a trained voice and the intelligence and force she has—should make her at maturity a wonderful artist and a powerful exponent of the worth and beauty of American music.

The princess was ably assisted in her program by Mr. Farmer. He has a splendid tenor voice, which he uses with delightful effect in simple songs and ballads. His singing is always a treat, and last night one of the most attractive numbers on the program was the duet he sang with the princess.

A feature that added much to the pleasure of the concert, too, was the beautiful stage setting. An Indian tent and a dying fire in the forest formed a strikingly realistic background for the princess, whose beaded dress of pure white deerskin, moccasins and fillet of beads that bound back her jet-black braids, added the last touch to the Indian atmosphere of the scene.

CITY MAY NOT APPEAL FROM COURT DECISION

Mayor Says He Did Not Expect Day of Rest Ordinance to Stand
Court Test

According to Mayor C. L. McKesson, it is not probable that the city will appeal from the decision of Judge Kinney of the county court, who holds that the day-of-rest ordinance is unconstitutional. The mayor declares that the action taken will depend upon the opinion rendered by the city attorney's office.

Mayor McKesson said yesterday that he had expected the ordinance would not stand the test of the courts. He said he felt personally that an appeal would be of no good, as the higher courts probably would uphold Judge Kinney's opinion.

MISS GEORGIANA GILL HURT BY STREET CAR

The condition of Miss Georgiana Gill, aged 19, who fell from a cemetery street car Sunday night at Castilla street and Nevada avenue is much improved and she probably will be able to leave St. Francis hospital today. She sustained a concussion of the brain and was unconscious until Monday afternoon.

Miss Gill was on the way to the home of her sister, Mrs. Christina Winters, near the scene of the accident, when she fell from the car. Reports as to the accident vary, the street car officials telling Miss Gill's mother that the girl stepped from the car while it was running at full speed.

Miss Gill was taken to St. Francis hospital in an ambulance, but it was several hours before her identity could be learned. Her home is at 102 South Weber street.

J. L. STUBBS OLD-TIME RESIDENT OF SPRINGS

J. L. Stubbs, general agent for the Well-to-do Express company, who died in Denver Monday afternoon of pneumonia, was a long-time superintendent of the company with headquarters in Colorado Springs. He left this city 2 years ago and since that time has been with the company at Denver. Mr. Stubbs was prominent in Masonic circles and was a life member of the lodge at the temple in Colorado Springs. He was stricken in Chicago last Friday and rushed to Denver where death soon followed. He will be buried this afternoon with Masonic honors in Denver.

Omaha was once the capital of Rome. It is now practically a deserted village infested with malaria and swine. The continual deposit of dirt from the river, two and a half miles from the sea, the water is reached only by flood.

CHURCH UNABLE TO ACCOMMODATE CROWD

Devotional Meetings, Beginning
Tonight, to Be Held at
First Presbyterian

On account of the large number of people who had to be turned away from the overcrowded First Christian church last night, the management of the revival meetings now being conducted by Evangelist Benjamin Pratt has decided to hold the gatherings of the remaining 10 days in the First Presbyterian church, which will accommodate many more people. Tonight the meeting will be held in the church and the subject of the sermon as announced by Dr. Pratt will be "A Church Member of the Smart Set."

The large revival chorus has been increased this week and is showing the effect of the training under Mr.
Booth. He has all the gestures of a professional director, and is a clever chorus leader. Mrs. Booth sang "The Light of the World" at the beginning of the services last night, and at the close of the sermon sang "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning."

Evangelist Pratt took for his subject last night "Let Your Light Shine," based on the text found in John vi.
35: "He was a burning and shining light." He illustrated his sermon with a common house lamp, which he lighted and then proceeded to apply its different kinds of light to the many kinds of Christians. He said in part:

"Lamps cannot light themselves.
That which kindles them must come from the outside. We shine only when lighted by the spirit of God. There is the smoldering lamp, which, when the spark is kindled, the soul through which the light passes. Carelessness, neglect and worldliness are the three things which destroy the brilliancy of any soul's shining."

The revival closed with a description of a wreck in the Clave and harbor. The wreck was on either side of the channel. Car light the lower lamp was either very dim by reason of the fog, or not lighted, and the skipper mistook the upper for the lower light, and ran his vessel on the rocks. From this incident P. P. Bliss wrote the famous song, "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning."

Dr. Pratt's sermon tonight, when he will preach on the subject, "A Church Member of the Smart Set," promises to be of unusual interest.

Funeral of Strike Victim Yesterday

The funeral of Luke Terry, who was shot from ambush near Oakview last Saturday afternoon, was held yesterday morning from his home, 11
North Thirteenth street, the Rev. C.
F. Garver, pastor of the Asbury M.
E. church, and the Rev. R. P. Carson of Manitou officiating. The entire membership of the local chapter of the Kappa Sigma fraternity, of which Terry was a member, was present at the services, as well as many other friends.

The floral offerings bore mute testimony of the esteem in which the young man was held by those who knew him. There were several beautiful floral pieces, among them being a great mass of chrysanthemums from friends at Monte Vista, his former home. There was a pillow of flowers from his class at Colorado college, a large star and crescent from his fraternity, and a wreath from the mine at which he worked.

After the services the body was taken to Longmont for burial.

POULTRY MEN HOLD INTERESTING MEETING

At the meeting of the Pikes Peak Poultry association held last night at the city hall, A. A. Hilton gave an address on "How to Select Birds for Exhibition," and illustrated his ideas with live specimens. A large crowd was in attendance, and much interest was manifested in the meeting. Several birds belonging to local fanciers were on exhibition. H. H. Chase gave a talk on "Standard Bred Birds and Their Value."

Real Estate Men to Prosecute Vandals

Members of the real estate division of the chamber of commerce, at a meeting at the Alta Vista hotel yesterday, heard a report of the special committee appointed some time ago to take up the matter of protecting vac-cant houses. The committee recommended that all vacant houses have placards placed on them in a conspicuous place, offering a reward for the conviction of any persons damaging the property. The report was adopted, and the placards will be printed and distributed immediately. The committee which is handling the matter was instructed to confer with the chief of police and enlist the cooperation of the department.

The meeting yesterday also passed a motion to have the real estate men meet daily at luncheon time, and for the first week the men will gather at McRae's restaurant. A list of rules for the association was presented by Chas.
P. Bennett, and adopted in printed form.

HOME ON 17TH STREET IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

After Trouble Is Experienced in Getting Line to Fire, Switch Engine
Rung Over Hose

The home of Mrs. Mary E. Harrington, 315 South Seventeenth street, was almost entirely destroyed by fire of unknown origin yesterday morning. Residents of the house and neighbors carried a large part of the furniture out before the flames drove them away.

According to people living near the Harrington home, the firemen were compelled to go three blocks from the fire for water. A fire plug located on Nineteenth street was used, and it was reported yesterday that much difficulty was experienced in connecting the hose.

According to a man standing near the hose was attached to the plug and the hose was run toward the fire. In this way, the hose was to be laid from the plug to the fire. In some manner, the hose became uncoiled a hundred feet from the fire plug, and the wagon drove three blocks before it was noticed that the hose was not being uncoiled from the wagon.

Members of the fire department said that a switch engine ran over the hose after it had been laid, and this also delayed the fire fighters.

The building is outside the city limits,
and the firemen, when they arrived at the scene, had to await the instructions of the fire chief before action could be taken, according to bystanders. Chief McMartin, however, denied this last night, and said that his men went to work on the fire as soon as they arrived.

UNCLE SAM WILL PLACE

During Rush of Christmas Season
Postoffice Employees Will Moist-

Uncle Sam will personally moisten the stamps that go on Christmas packages this year, according to an order from Washington, which states that postal employees are to stick the necessary postage on all holiday packages, providing the shippers ask it.
The new order is intended to promote better service in the handling of mail during the holiday period, when numerous individuals, if allowed to fix their own packages, omit the stamp.
In this way the mail is delayed at the post office at Christmas time is retarded and the employees become swamped with holiday packages.

Plan Law to Squelch Itinerant Peddlers

The matter of protecting local merchants against itinerant peddlers who come to this city for a few months each year will be the chief topic for discussion at a meeting of the retail merchants division of the chamber of commerce, to be held at the Alamo hotel, Friday, night, commencing with supper at 8:30 o'clock. A talk dealing with this subject will be made by George E. Collinson, secretary of the retail division of the Denver chamber of commerce.

Denver has an ordinance the purpose of which is to eliminate the transient merchant, and the different phases of the measure will be explained by Mr.
Collinson. A report will be made at this meeting by the special committee, which has been working on the matter
for the local merchants.

Baseball Will Soon
Be Sport of World.
Says C. A. Comiskey

World's championship baseball series within a few years will be played between the champion teams of the great countries rather than the leaders of the two major leagues in the United States. In the opinion of Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago American league club, who spent several hours here yesterday, Comiskey and his party are en route to Vancouver, where they will join the White Sox and New York Giants on their tour of the world.

"Perhaps 10 or 15 years will mark this great change in baseball," declared Mr. Comiskey. "The great American game is rapidly becoming a world sport, and every year more and more interest is being manifested in it in the foreign countries, which already have taken it up. Baseball is a game which takes hold of everyone —and it keeps it hold."

Interest in Game Growing.
By way of proving his point, the gray-haired veteran of the diamond pointed out the numerous baseball teams in Japan, China, Australia, France and England. In Japan, especially, he said the game is being played with as much success and interest as is manifested here. Numerous universities there have organized teams and are rapidly becoming expert in the art of the ball. In Paris, A. G. Spalding did much to create interest in America's national game, and during the present tour, Comiskey and McGraw of the Giants will attempt to give the sport an impetus that will make it take first place with the sport lovers of the French capital.

Mr. Comiskey and his party arrived in Colorado Springs yesterday morning and spent several hours sightseeing. Everyone was delighted with the wonderful climate and scenery of the region and all were sorry to leave when their train pulled out shortly before noon.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs.
Comiskey, Andrew Slight, box catcher, Louis Comiskey, the manager's brother, and Mrs. Comiskey. Mr. and Mrs. James Mullin, Mr. and Mrs.
William Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farrell, Thomas Lynch, W. J. Leahy
and Mrs. H. E. Keough.

rooms tomorrow afternoon. This city will be represented by E. W. Kent, L.
A. Puffer, Dr. P. O. Hamford and L.
W. Henderson. All members of the All-Colorado committee. The meeting comes from a suggestion by various Denver organizations interested in the cause of good roads and is an outgrowth of the Colorado-to-the-Gulf movement which was fostered by Colorado Springs and Texas associations.

MAGIC VOICE OF INDIAN MAID THRILLS AUDIENCE

Creek Princess Gives Delightful Con-

With Birdlike Clearness.

By RAMONA BRADY.
A unique and thoroughly delightful concert, which served the double purpose of benefiting one of Colorado Springs' most popular charities and its promise of power and quality. When one considers that Tsingina is just a

According to Mayor C. L. McKen-that the day-of-rest ordinance is unthat the action taken will depend upon

Mayor McKenson said yesterday that he had expected the ordinance would not stand the test of the courts. He said he felt personally that an appeal would be of no good, as the higher courts probably would uphold Judge Kinney's opinion.

BUSINESS MEN EXPECT TO DEVELOP RESOURCES

Twenty-five new members have been added to the roll of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce as a result of a recent campaign to boost the membership. The business men have manifested much enthusiasm in the work of the organization and are bending all efforts to cooperate with Colorado Springs in the forwarding of measures that will go for the up-building of both cities.
Many new prospects are under way and a spirit of enterprise has taken hold of all business interests. Recent tests by Kinaman & Wolf show that there is abundant material for a cement works near this city and the problem of establishing a glass factory has again taken shape in view of statements by several experts that the sand in this vicinity is well adapted for the industry of glassmaking.

Makes Face Young-- Tightens Love Ties

"Aurilla in Woman's Sphere" is a facial expression, a wrinkled face and a faded complexion do more to drive the male members from home than is commonly supposed. It was one of my greatest difficulties when my dear new wife with me. But I have overcome all that I have changed my mental attitude, and I now find it second nature to look cheerful. I attribute this partly to a remarkable treatment recommended by a friend. My appearance has so improved I look fifteen years younger than before. A simple face lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered exfoliant in a half-pint of witch hazel, proved a wonderful wrinkle chaser. I still use this occasionally. To tone up my complexion I purchased an ounce of ordinary m. oiled skin. At my drug store I bought using this m. oiled skin and before using this m. oiled skin I used the wax like cold cream before retiring. Washing it off morning. Ten days treatment sufficed. Adv.
